Abstract submission closes 31st March 2020

Programme Highlights:

- Keynote Presentations from Leading Experts
- Interactive Workshops
- Networking Opportunities
- Research Symposium...and much, much more!

At conference we will discuss preparing our workforce to work within an increasingly digital workplace, whilst maintaining the essence of nursing, we'll explore current nursing theory and ask if it is fit for the next decade/generation, amongst a number of other topics submitted by you! Abstract submission and registration is now open!

Whether you're an advanced beginner, intermediate or expert in the field of critical care, the BACCN Conference offers content on the latest evidence on guidelines, standards and clinical practice as well as offering educational experiences for your continuing professional development. Plus a range of networking opportunities at the welcome reception, conference dinner and breaks throughout the programme.
